Learn it, Love it, Teach it, and Preach it

The whole point of the Student Leadership Summit is to empower Black students on your campus so that ultimately they achieve their educational dreams. So the question here is how are you going to do leadership on your campus and how you are going to dramatically impact the Black student experience at your college.

We would like you to take all the knowledge you are gaining, and the tree you created with your team and design a sketch plan, with actions for what you want your Umoja Student Leadership Program to do on your campus in 2018-19. We are consciously choosing the word action, as a word more applicable to a movement, to building a Black power base on your campus. These are not merely activities you are going to do back at your campus, these are actions to make change and transform conditions and outcomes for the community.

Use the attached template to create a sketch plan that clearly demonstrates how you will grow student leadership over the year in order to create a strong foundation for future generations.
